AWARDS DURING 2014 TO MOLECULAR TOXICOLOGY DOCTORAL STUDENTS

1. Continuing Students

Lisa Barnhill, May Bhetraratana, Daniel Malkin and Priti Prasad
- Predoctoral fellowships from the UCLA NIEHS training grant in “Molecular Toxicology”. Annual stipend of $22,476, $7,315 towards tuition and fees, and $300 for travel.

Jessica Camacho
- 2014 National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship. Stipend of $32,000 for 3 years and $12,000 towards tuition for three years.

Julie Castaneda
- Individual Predoctoral Fellowship (F31), from the National Institute of Health (NIH) for 2014 – 2016. Tuition, fees, and stipend for two years.
- North American Graduate Fellowship award from the American College of Toxicology (ACT) for 2014 – 2016 $5000 per year for two years.
- Arthur Falek Early Career Investigator from the Society on NeuroImmune Pharmacology (SNIP) award.
- SNIP Young Investigator Travel Award
- Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Award for Individual Predoctoral Fellowships to Promote Diversity in Health-Related Research (Parent F31 - Diversity), NIH. Tuition, fees, and stipend 2014-2016.
- North American Graduate Fellowship award from the American College of Toxicology (ACT). $5000 per year for 2014–2016.

Yichang Chen
- 2014 Southern California Regional Chapter Graduate Student Travel Award, $1000.

Chitrada Kaweeteterawat
- Student research project award from California Unified Program Agency (CUPA).
- Royal Thai Government Scholarship, 2010-2014; $21,000 stipend per year plus fees.
- Student and Young Professionals Travel Award ($500) to present a poster at the Nano Risk Analysis II workshop in Washington DC. on September 15-16, 2014

Tina Phan
- UCLA Graduate Summer Research Mentorship Fellowship, $6000 for summer expenses.

Priti Prasad
- NIEHS training grant fellowship (see above)
- Summer Fellowship 2014 from the Lupus Foundation of America, $4000 towards stipend.
- Student Travel Award 2014 from American College of Toxicology (ACT)

2. Entering Students

Maureen Sampson
- Eugene V. Cota-Robles fellowship, $21,000 plus full tuition and fees for the first and fourth years of school.
- UCLA/National Science Foundation Competitive Edge summer research program scholarship. $6,000 for summer, 2014
- NSF Graduate Research Fellowship Program for 2015-2016. Annual stipend of $34,000.

RECENT PAST AWARDS

2011-2014, UCLA/NIEHS Training grant in Molecular Toxicology
- Michael Davoren
- Aaron Lulla
- (Dr. Ciara Martin)